The
EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The paper trust caught red-handed.

Crittenden county will vote on a $100,000 road bond issue March 22.

The Cuban election set for today has been called off by President Menocal.

Plant Irish potatoes as the first step to meet the high cost of living and plant them this month.

Big steel nets have been stretched across the entrances to the harbors at New York and Hampton Roads.

If as reported, President Wilson's personal threat brought the paper trust to terms, we may expect other trusts to hear from him.

Max Linder, the European rival of Charlie Chaplin as a movie comedian, has come to this country and is being filmed by a Chicago company.

Gen. Eben Swift, one of the new division commanders on the border, ought to be a good man to send after Villa next time.

Senator Stricklett, of Covington, has been appointed city solicitor of Covington, and will have to resign if he accepts the appointment at once.

Mr. Elkus, who was cut off from communication with the State Department for ten days, has been heard from and is still right side up in Constantinople.

The Lexington Leader is publishing 100-year-old items taken from the Kentucky Gazette files of 1817. Henry Clay was speaker of the House of Representatives of Congress.

The Brazilian minister at Berlin, by order of his government, has warned Germany that Brazil will hold her responsible for the fate of three Brazilian vessels approaching the war zone.

The House of Representatives has decided to hold two sessions daily, sitting as a committee of the whole to hear all persons interested in the three revenue and taxation measures before the House.

President Wilson, who is 60, is the oldest President in 60 years. Five Presidents were over 60 when inaugurated—John Adams 61; Jackson 61, Taylor 64, Buchanan 65 and W. H. Harrison 68.

In order to avoid the possible need of a special session, President Wilson will ask Congress to give him power to protect American rights on the seas, before the present session adjourns.

Commissioner Mat S. Cohen has called off the farmers' institute for Feb. 28 at Winchester, and will fix a new date for the latter part of March and hold it in Hopkinsville, a city that does what it undertakes.

The debating society of the Dawson High School will on March 20 tackle the question: "Resolved that movies, theaters and other amusements given upon the stage, are morally wrong." Both girls and boys will debate.

In an address before a joint session of the legislature at Indianapolis, Wm. Howard Taft, former president of the United States, declared there should be no question as to the position every true American should take in regard to the present international crisis. We must stand by the president.

A resolution was introduced in the West Virginia house to create a new state out of Ohio, Brook, Hancock and Marshall counties, thereby providing sufficient revenue to pay the Virginia debt judgment. The resolution provides that these four counties, known as the Panhandle counties, issue $12,000,000 bonds to pay the debt in consideration of statehood. They have an area less than 600 square miles. The more sensible plan would be to pay Virginia in adjacent territory.

RETURN BY MARCH 7

Funston Says Force of Regulars Sufficient to Meet Exigencies.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Kentucky's National Guardsmen have all been ordered home by March 7.

In the general order issued by the War Department Saturday all of Kentucky's troops remaining on the border were ordered home. The department announced they will leave Texas as soon as possible after next Tuesday and are expected to be restored to civilian life two weeks later.

The department made it known that the present international crisis has nothing to do with the ordering home of all the guardsmen now on the border. The Kentucky units affected by the order are the First and Third regiments of infantry, the field hospital and signal corps. They are to be mustered out at the most convenient points, which means they will not have to go to Ft. Thomas.

Gen. Funston still will have on the border nearly 50,000 troops, all of the regular army, disposed along the line from Brownsville to Yuma, Ariz., on plans worked out by the General Staff. The command includes all of the troops who were in Mexico under Gen. Pershing and their distribution was carried out under the direction of Gen. Eben Swift, who was with the Pershing expedition. Gen. Pershing will remain at El Paso, where he is commanding a division, including the largest cavalry unit on the line.

Judge and Marshal of Pembroke.

Mrs. Mattie A. Jackson and her brother, Monroe Anderson, against D. C. Williams and John Smith, is the style of a suit for $5,000 damages filed here. All parties reside at Pembroke. The plaintiffs allege in the petition that the defendants, Mr. Williams being city judge of Pembroke and Mr. Smith the marshal, took possession of a lot of tools in the possession of Mr. Anderson and which belonged to Mrs. Jackson and other persons and ordered a chest of tools worth $50 and belonging to Mrs. Jackson, to be sold to make good a claim of $7.88 alleged to be due for school taxes to the town of Pembroke, and that in order to save the tools from being sold the amount alleged to be due for taxes had to be paid.

NEW MEXICO'S

End Comes Suddenly.

SICK WHEN INAUGURATED

Had Acted as Governor From His Room In a Sanitarium.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 18.—Gov. E. C. DeBacca died this afternoon at 5 o'clock of pernicious anaemia.

Gov. DeBacca was the second governor of the state. The first was Wm. C. McDonald, who was defeated last fall for lieutenant governor.

When nominated Mr. DeBacca was ill and soon after being chosen as the democratic gubernatorial candidate he was sent to Los Angeles to a sanitarium. Although his physicians warned him that he might lose his life if he returned to New Mexico to take the executive oath, he declared he would go if he had to be carried to Santa Fe on a stretcher.

Blood transfusion brought improvement in his condition, however, and he traveled to the New Mexico capital without serious result. From the train he was taken to a sanitarium and in his room there he was sworn in in the presence of fewer than a score of persons. After the legislature met, early this month, he took personal charge of a considerable part of the executive duties, making appointments, passing upon bills and the like.

W. E. Lindsay, lieutenant governor, republican, automatically succeeds to the executive office and occupancy of the executive mansion here, within which Gov. DeBacca had not set foot since his election. He was 53 years old.

INTERESTS TO BE HEARD

Everything Is Now Ready to Give Tax Measures Consideration.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 19.—The House convened at 1 o'clock this afternoon and the legislature will begin an exhaustive and analytical study of provisions of the three tax bills recommended for enactment by the State Tax Commission, appointed by Gov. Stanley to formulate plans for modern revenue laws to replace the unsatisfactory tax system now in force.

With an idea of giving every taxpayer a fair and full hearing as to his views on revenue laws, the House, by resolving itself into a committee of the whole, will, during the next ten days, throw open the doors of its chamber. And opening of the doors means the Representatives are open to suggestions and conviction, they assert.

There is certain to be large delegations in attendance at the hearing Tuesday, set apart as the day for manufacturers and commercial organization representatives. Delegates from a score of cities in the State, including Louisville, Lexington, Newport, Covington, Paducah, Bowling Green and others, will assemble here as spokesmen for various Commercial Clubs and Chambers of Commerce. They will organize a State Chamber of Commerce and also appear at the public hearing at the Capitol.

Wednesday, likewise, promises to be a busy day. Farmers and real estate owners have been invited to appear before the Committee of the Whole on that day and the farmers are certain to be on hand to tell what they want and don't want in the way of tax laws. Several associations of agriculturists have been organized in recent months for the express purpose of considering the proposed revenue laws, and will have delegates to represent them.

Mrs. Ladd was a native of Hart county and a daughter of James Clymer.

CAPTURED

Prove Fruitless.

ATTACKERS SWEEP BACK

Berlin Admits Loss of Positions but Took Prisoners and Guns.

The Germans in the Miraumont sector of the Ancre front in France, have striven to regain the positions taken from them by the British on Saturday but their attempts have been fruitless, according to the British war office.

Attacking in waves the Germans came under the concentrated fire of the British guns and were swept back to their trenches suffering heavy casualties. At no place did the attacking forces reach the British line and the British suffered no casualties. The British captured 780 officers and men.

The Berlin war office in its description of the Ancre fighting of Saturday says the positions several times changed hands but that, abandoning their advanced crater positions, the Germans took 130 men prisoner and captured five machine guns.

Trench raiding operations and artillery duels still continue on various sectors of the front in France and Belgium.

Except for isolated attacks, the most violent of which was delivered by the Russians against Teutonic allied positions in the Oltus valley in Rumania and which Berlin says was repulsed, little fighting is in progress in the Eastern theater. Petrograd admits the entry of Germans into Russian trenches south of Dvinsk, but says later they were driven out. In the Carpathians a strong Austro-German work at Okna has been captured by the Russians.

In the Austro-Italian and Macedonian theaters artillery activity predominates. Nothing new has come through concerning the situation on the Iraq front, where the last reports credited the British with having taken additional positions from the Turks in the region of Kut-el-Amara.

Two more British steamers have been sent to the bottom by German submarines. Their aggregate tonnage was 4,333. Another British steamer, the Worcestershire, 7,175 tons, is reported to have been sunk.

A German official communication announces the sinking during one day by a single submarine of 51,800 tons of entente vessels.

Casualties in the German army, exclusive of colonial troops reported in the German casualties lists in the month of January, 1917 totalled 77,537 officers and men killed, wounded, prisoners or missing. The total compiled in the list follows:

Killed and died 15,906.
Prisoners, 1,645.
Missing, 11,874.
Wounded, 48,109.
Total, 77,534.

Three casualties bring the total of Germans killed and those who died of wounds or sickness to 988,329 and the total casualties since the war began to 4,087,692.

ROAD COMMIS-SIONERS TO-DAY

Lieut. Waterman, who is guarding the border at Hachita, N. M., ought to have a sword that is mightier than his pen.

Wilson Hampton, an 18-year-old schoolboy, was married to Miss Catherine Dixon, 28, at Whitesburg, Ky., after a brief courtship. The wedding came as a complete surprise.

Miss Judge, a Louisville woman of 57, who eloped with her chauffeur, should not be misjudged by her relatives who were so devoted to Aunt Maggie. You can't most always sometimes tell what a woman is going to do, even if she is old.

Gen. Pershing who failed to catch

 New York widow. He is 56 years old and his former wife was a daugh-

 His wife and three children were year or two ago.

West Virginia is about to pass a law
 to conserve her natural gas resources by prohibiting the piping of gas into other States. Louisville gets its gas from West Virginia and the supply gave out during one of the coldest spells last month. Excitement has been caused in many cities in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Kentucky supplied from this source.

The federal trade commission announced Friday that the principal news print paper manufacturers of the United States had proposed that the commission determine a fair and reasonable maximum price for paper from March 1, 1917, to Sept. 1, 1917.
 The proposal, it was said, would be taken under advisement and an announcement made within a few days.
 It is not enough to let them throw up their hands now to escape prosecution. They ought to be made to disgorge some of the ill-gotten gains, acquired by putting a thousand small papers out of business.

Miss Margaret K. Judge, of Louisville, was married at Shelbyville, Ky.,
 last Monday to Joseph E. Hutchins, who for the past five years had acted as her chauffeur. Miss Judge, it is said, is about fifty-seven years old and the groom is about thirty years old. She has long been prominent in charitable work, made possible through an independent fortune. She is a member of the Cathedral of the Assumption, and much of her charity was done quietly through that church.
 She was for several years president of the old Catholic Women's Club.
 Miss Judge's fortune is said to aggregate $200,000, and to consist principally of real estate.

Jose Miguel Gomez, with 1200 deserters from the Cuban army and several hundred insurgents recruited,
 has started a revolution in Cuba that the United States may have to intervene to stop, if it gets troublesome. Quiet has been restored in several provinces where there were simultaneous disturbances and 2,000 troops are closing in on Gomez himself in Canguesing. William Gonzalez, the American minister, has issued a note in answer to the petitions for him to urge clemency for military prisoners who were likely to be shot. The note assured the petitioners that the minis-

FARM STOCK

MAKING PROFIT WITH SHEEP

They Are Next to Hogs in Their Facilities for Making Gains From Given Quantity of Feed.

Sheep are generally considered good feeders, that is to say that they have adaptations for producing gains economically. Sheep are next to hogs in their facilities for making gains from a given quantity of feed. They have the advantage of hogs in that they can convert coarse fodders and hay into gains. They can excel cattle in this respect.

It requires 9 to 11 pounds of dry matter to produce a pound of gain on steers, according to investigations.
 Sheep on the same feed will make a pound of gain on from 7 to 9 pounds of dry matter.

It was found at the Iowa station
 that 1,000 pounds of cattle on full feed ate 19.6 pounds of dry matter a day and gained 2.14 pounds; 1,000 pounds

Purebred Mutton Ram.

of sheep ate 29.7 pounds of dry matter a day and gained 3.73 pounds in weight. The sheep thus ate 48 per cent more feed per 1,000 pounds live-weight and made 75 per cent better gains than cattle. But this was not all the advantage in feeding sheep;
 they will grow a fleece in addition worth from 75 cents to $1.50 a head.

Sheep are close grazers and will thrive on short grass or destroy weeds that cattle will not eat. They will thrive better on short pasture than either hogs or cattle and when given richer feed will make better gains than cattle.

COMFORT IN STOCK STABLES

Best Results Not to Be Expected
 From Stock Shivering and Suffering From Dampness.

It pays to keep the stock comfortable as well as generously feed these plucky winter months. It is deplorable when the stock shivers and suffers from cold when by proper management it can be made comfortable with little expense.

Tight stables are not necessarily warm stables. Good ventilation is necessary in order to have the air
 dry. Damp air is more uncomfortable than dry air of the same temperature.
 A special ventilation system is a paying investment.

The covered barnyard or open shed that faces the south and has three tight walls, if well bedded with straw and has a straw stack close to the south opening, is a mighty comfortable place for stock on a cold day. Many prefer these sheds to tight stables,
 where the cows are confined to stanchions. They have their liberty in the shed and can exercise and keep warm.

MATE BREEDING SOWS EARLY

Many Advantages Derived From Pigs
 Farrowed in February or March—
 Best Prices in September.

There are many advantages in breeding sows for early farrowing.
 Pigs farrowed in February or early March come at a season when farmers can give them better care. By the time forage crops become available, the pigs are of such size as to make best use of them, and thus to attain greater size for early fall market.

Hogs are usually highest in price
 during September. Early-farrowed pigs attain marketable size by that time.

Late-farrowed pigs do not reach market weight until December or January, when pork prices are usually the lowest.

The faithful horse that breaks the Toilet of the Lion.

 At Belfast the lion of Bartholomew is nobler and prouder than ever. Above all he is proud to be clean and tidy.
 For some time he was a very dirty lion. The garrison that occupied the fort just above the monument had thrown down upon the stony animal kitchen slops, old rags and all kinds of filth. One day it was announced that the prince of Wales would visit Belfast on the following day. The men on police duty were ordered to clean up against an unforeseen difficulty.
 The approach to the lion was by a narrow passage in the rock of which the entrance was closed by a strong door, and the keeper of the key had been mobilized and gone. Fortunately among the men on police duty was a black sheep who had a reputation as an expert housebreaker. He did the trick and the door was opened. They then proceeded with the toilet of the lion, which was no nice affair. The prince arrived on the morrow and accorded the lion a hasty glance. He did not know the trouble that had been taken to make the colossus presentable.—Le Cri de Paris.

 I care not whether you are from the

 whether you have seen the inside of a work be that of the head or that of

GOOD FOR LUNCH

PREPARATION OF CHICKEN THAT WILL BE APPRECIATED.

Nothing Better for Small Family, If
 It Is Not Too Expensive—Royal Scallop Another Dish That Is
 First Class.

One medium-size chicken (cut up),
 one tablespoonful lard, one-half tablespoonful of butter. Put the lard into a baking pan, set on top of stove until melted; add butter, and melt, but do not brown. Roll each piece of chicken in flour, put it into the pan with the hot lard and butter, cover with water and cook in the oven for about an hour, carefully turning the chicken over when browned on one side. If the gravy is not thick enough, a little flour may be added. A little cream is also an improvement. With this I serve stuffed potatoes. Six potatoes, one tablespoonful melted butter, hot milk to moisten, salt and pepper. Select large potatoes, bake until soft, cut in halves lengthwise. Remove the inside without breaking the skin, mash it well, season with salt, pepper and melted butter, add hot milk and heat until light. Heap this mixture into the skins, brush tops with melted butter and brown in the oven. Perhaps you do not want such an expensive
 one.

Here is another; but it is hard to get the whole tomatoes this time of year.
 I have used canned. Select ripe tomatoes of uniform size. Remove the core and part of the inside, and into each drop a raw egg, with a little salt and pepper. Cover the opening with breadcrumbs and bake until the tomatoes are done.

Royal Scallops.—Three hard boiled eggs, one cupful salmon, two cupfuls crumbs, two cupfuls white sauce. Mash
 the eggs fine with a fork, butter a baking dish and arrange in layers, crumbs, fish, eggs and sauce, salt, pepper and butter (two and one-half tablespoonfuls to the whole mixture). Repeat until all the food material is used, finishing with a layer of crumbs on top.
 Bake until brown. Hope you will try one of these. I have some salads I use for luncheon that are very nice.—

 cheese, one tablespoonful butter, cupful of milk, one cupful bread crumbs, two eggs, a little cayenne. Put the butter into the chafing dish; when melted add the milk, crumbs, cheese and cayenne; stir constantly. Add just before serving the eggs beaten light.

Creamed Lobster.—One tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful flour,
 one cupful of milk, one small cupful cream, two pounds lobster, tenspoonful of salt, cayenne pepper. Melt the butter in the chafing dish and then stir in the flour gradually, add the milk and cream; when all is smooth add the lobster cut into small pieces, then add the salt and cayenne. Stir until very hot, add the lemon juice and serve at once on toast.

Leftovers.

This is the way I use up cold roast meat or bits of steak: Cut up in small pieces, put on in kettle with cold water and an onion. Cook until tender, then thicken quite thick with flour.
 Season to taste, put in small round
 pan, but quite deep, let get cold, then,
 about an hour before supper, boil
 enough potatoes to cover quite thick.
 Mash them with milk and butter. Cover meat and bake until meat is thoroughly heated, usually a half hour. If any is left I warm up for breakfast by mixing in the spider, but there is seldom any left. I like this way better than grinding meat fine and then covering with potatoes and gravy, and just a small amount of meat will amply do for two.

Pineapple Custard Pie.

Won't someone please try my pineapple custard pie? It is delicious. I used the pineapple that I canned.
 Shred thoroughly ripe pineapples until you have two cupfuls; add one cupful granulated sugar and the yolks of four eggs, well beaten. Stir in a pint of milk which has been scalded—not boiled—and which has been allowed to cool; then add the whites of eggs beaten stiff and stir all thoroughly.
 Put the pastry on tin plates and bake
 until the crusts are rich and brown.—
 Boston Globe.

A Tempting Club Side Dish.

Take the skin, julienne and seeds from nice, fresh tomatoes, chop what remains with celery and add this dressing: Yolks of two hard-boiled eggs rubbed fine and smooth, one teaspoonful of English mustard, one of salt, the yolks of two raw eggs beaten into the other, dessertspoonful of fine sugar. Add very fresh sweet oil, pour in by very small quantities and beat until quite thick, then add vinegar till as thin as desired. If not hot enough with mustard add a little cayenne pepper.

Chestnut Balls.

Mix one cupful of hot boiled and mashed chestnuts with the beaten yolks of two eggs, one-half saltspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar,
 two tablespoonfuls of heavy cream,
 one teaspoonful of vanilla; cool, fold in the stiffly beaten whites, shape in small balls, roll in crumbs, dip in beaten eggs, roll again in crumbs, let stand one or more hours and fry in

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Fireweed's Good Work.

Fireweed, otherwise known as the "great willow-herb," seems to have been created as an antidote for one of the ugliest sights a landscape may offer—burnt-over ground. The fireweed is a genuine cosmopolitan, for it sends its consoling shaft above the ashes of burnt forests not only throughout America but in Europe and Asia.

Your B-B Gun.

Inexpensive toys are often well made, but never proof against wear, and hard usage, and all shooting weapons are subject to the latter. Most frequently the trigger fails to hold the spring plunger when the action is levered and in this case the catch has worn round. Simply unscrew the bolt on which the trigger piece pivots and file the catch sharp on the back, being careful to keep the angle the same. The plunger catch rarely wears down, but when it does get a new gun.

GIRLS EXCEL IN SPELLING

Boys Take Second Place in Schools Where Competitive Examinations Have Been Held.

Complete tabulated returns of the state-wide spelling contests in which State Commissioner Finley was so much interested show that in the 10,500 schools where "hees" were held, the girls showed generally the greater proficiency in spelling, and that of the silver medals awarded to county champions only 30 per cent go to boys. The original plan was to give each of these county winners a free trip to the state fair at Syracuse, but the infantile paralysis scare interfered.

Why girls are better spellers than boys might make a good subject for a monograph. It is a pretty commonly accepted theory that a good speller is born, not made. Which means, perhaps, that visual memory is an inherited faculty, capable, it may be, of development, but only within a limit fixed by the brain of the pupil. Logic helps very little, almost none at all, till after study of Greek and Latin and French has forced attention on the origin of words. The boy or girl or man or woman who most rarely mis-spells a word is fortunate rather than admirable. The memory visualizes the printed form which reading has made familiar. And this was the secret of the way our grandmothers and grandfathers got a mastery over the old line spelling book. Doubtless the pre-Froebel "Webster" book, like all other books used for the purpose, helped visualization by concentrating attention.

We are inclined to believe that the average school girl reads more than the average school boy. After school the boy's interests are outside interests. He is fishing or skating or playing ball. We would not have him otherwise for all the spelling in the world. After all, the learning of things is better than the learning of symbols, and words are nothing but symbols. They aid in writing and in speaking. But in the education that leads up to doing things one hour in mathematics or chemistry is worth more than a hundred hours of spelling.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Constipation Makes You Dull.

That draggy, listless, oppressed feeling generally results from constipation. The intestines are clogged and the blood becomes poisoned. Musk Radioactive.

It has been recently determined that the penetrating quality of musk is due to certain radioactive properties which it possesses that cause odor of the perfume to be carried through the air in an extraordinary way, says the Indianapolis News. The radioactive property of musk affects strangely the natives who carry it to market. If a package of musk is held close to the body for any length of time it produces sores that are similar in character to those caused by pure radium.

IS PATRON SAINT OF BIRDS

Squirrels Depend on Asylum Inmate for Their Supply of Butternuts in Winter.

"The patron saint of birds and squirrels" is happy. And though he is sixty years old and has been a patient of the state hospital for the feeble-minded for 30 years, his hair is brown and wavy, his eyes are bright and sparkling and his health is good. He has been in the institution more than half of his life, but his life seems to be more sane than the lives of the thousands who have outstripped him in the life race—and have become wrinkle-cheeked, near-eyed and hard-fisted.

Albert Gentle has forgotten the world, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. He was entered in the hospital in 1880 because he loved the small animals and food of the forests. He has been there since, spending most of his time gathering nuts or communing with nature, never expressing the slightest desire to get back to the outside world. "Last year I picked 27,500 butternuts for my squirrels," he said. "I need just that many to feed them all. They get so hungry in the winter time. I make so many of them happy. I must be here always to care for them."

He said it quietly, with dignity. Imaginatively he somehow emerged from the character of an old simpleton, clothed in an absurd, rusty frock coat, trousers of another day and general appearance of Washington Irving's schoolmaster and became the sanctified keeper of a great trust. What was more important than caring for those little animals?

"Most people do not know how important it is that we should always think of the tiny bits of life that God has put on this earth," he said slowly. "Often they do not think of each other."

MOST POTENT OF WEAPONS

Nothing Devised by Humanity Is Able to Stand Against the Assault of Laughter.

In "The Mysterious Stranger"—the just-published posthumous book by Mark Twain—that authority on humor declared that most men possess only "a mongrel perception of humor."

He elaborates his idea by saying: "The multitude see the comic side of a thousand low-grade and trivial things—broad incongruities mainly; grotesqueries, absurdities, evokers of the horse laugh. The 10,000 high-grade comicities which exist in the world are sealed from their full vision."

"Will a day come when the race will detect the funniness of these juvenilities and laugh at them—and by laughing at them destroy them? For your race, in its poverty, has unquestionably one really effective weapon—laughter."

"Power, money, persuasion, supplication, persecution—these can lift at a colossal humbug—push it a little—weakens it a little, century by century; but only laughter can blow it to rags and atoms at a blast. Against the assault of laughter nothing can stand."

Europe's Largest Dam.

The largest dam in Europe has just been completed near Barcelona, Spain. It is built across the chasm through which the Noguera Pallaresa river flowed. Abutting on almost perpendicular cliffs, the dam is constructed of concrete, and measures 330 feet in height and 700 feet in length. The thickness is 230 feet at the base, gradually decreasing to 14 feet at the top. The valley above the dam was bought from the various landholders at a cost of near $1,000,000, and now filled with water forms an artificial lake 15 1/2 miles long and 3 1/2 miles wide. The water that now passes through the power house yields an electric current of 20,000 horse power. Later it will be increased to 40,000 horse power. The water is carried by a system of canals into an arid district, where it irrigates a surface of nearly 100 square miles.

Peculiar Disease of the Teeth.

The Colorado Dental society has two of its members engaged in the investigation of a mysterious malady of the teeth known, for the want of a better name, as "mottled teeth," which occurs in this country in a number of districts, principally in the southwestern portion of the United States. It has been noted in a somewhat more violent form in Italy, 15 years ago. It manifests itself in children and persists through life, and is often so disfiguring that the victims resort to artificial crowning. It is a defect of the enamel-forming substance, and it is suspected that the cause is due to some element in the drinking water, which it has been impossible to definitely determine.

Re-educating the Maimed.

Among the mechanical devices for re-educating the maimed or crippled limbs of soldiers that are now being used in the French hospitals are bicycles for the arms and legs, machines for exercising the fingers and wrists, for making supple the tendons of the forearm, for intensifying the sense of touch in the blind, for giving practice in manipulating artificial arms and legs, besides many varieties of artificial hands specially designed for operating typewriters and tools of several kinds.—New York World.

York Mother Finds Ideal Cold Treatment For Her Little Boy

Nothing to Swallow—You Just Rub It On.

Mothers everywhere will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, 623 West Gas Alley, York, Pa. Mrs. Smith tried the Southern remedy—Vick's VapoRub Salve, when it was first introduced in York, and writes—

"Our little four year old boy had a cough for about a week. We gave him everything we knew, and nothing seemed to do any good. So when we got Vick's VapoRub I rubbed it on his chest well for two nights and I have not heard him cough since. I think it is the best medicine I have ever had in the house."

Vick's VapoRub comes in salve form, and when applied to the body heat, the ingredients are released in vapor form. These vapors are inhaled with each breath, opening the air passages and loosening the phlegm. It's a real "Bodyguard in the home" against all forms of cold troubles. 25c, 50c. or $1.00. PRINT PAPER BACK TO NORMAL

Manufacturers, Warned of Drastic Action, Give Up Fight.

Washington, Feb. 19.—News-print paper manufacturers, facing criminal prosecution in United States courts for alleged combination in restraint of trade, proposed to the Federal Trade Commission Friday that it fix a reasonable price for the output of the principal plants of the United States and Canada. Personal action by President Wilson to restore normal prices of print paper and a special session of Congress to pass remedial legislation confronted the print-paper manufacturers, known before they gave up their fight against the Government's attempt to restore normal conditions in the trade.

The president's intentions were placed before the manufacturers by Secretary McAdoo, who told them that the Administration did not intend to see an alleged monopoly, through extortionate prices, place greater restraints on the press than the Government itself was empowered to place. At the same time the Federal grand jury in New York was preparing to bring indictments.

The Federal Trade Commission today considered details through which the manufacturers' proposals that the commission fix prices could be placed in effect. It is understood an announcement, formally accepting the proposal, probably will be made within a day or two.

Canada has already fixed the maximum price at two and one-half cents.

UNIQUE AND ORIGINAL

SAYS CHAS. F. HORNER OF KILLARNEY
GIRLS AND THEIR PROGRAM.

He Has Heard Them Often and Believes Them One of the Most Artistic of Musical and Literary Aggregations.

Writing of the Killarney Girls program, Manager Chas. F. Horner, of the Redpath at Kansas City says:

"I have heard them often and I believe that this company is the most unique and original, as well as one of the most artistic and altogether most satisfying musical and literary aggregations in the lyceum today. From the first song of their remarkable program to the last one, these young ladies control the situation. They produce the same effect on the audience that the masterful orator does. With the very first number they create a new atmosphere."

"The program is compact. There are no sinking spells, no losing touch with the audience. The program is a combination of 'The Girl' and 'The Girl' but it is a new one."

each number of the program bears some relation to some other number.

"Of course the program is made up of Irish legend, stories and musicals. There is much that is romantic, sentimental, and much that is dramatic about it. Each young lady is an individual artist. They are handsome, attractive girls and they are most beautifully costumed."

"Best of all they have the real lyceum ideals and, after the Killarney Girls have been to a city, the people know that seven great big hearted, big souled, wholesome young ladies have been among them."

This company will appear at the Tabernacle next Friday night, Feb. 24th.

If You Want The best Separator
that is built, buy a Dairymaid.

THERE IS MORE PROFIT IN YOUR DAIRY

than you ever realized unless you are using a Dairymaid cream separator. The Dairymaid is the only successful chain drive machine on the American market today. The chain drive causes that smooth, vibrationless movement of the bowl which helps give the Dairymaid its close skimming qualities.

The oiling facilities of the machine are excellent. Every part of the mechanism, except the bowl spindle neck bearing, is oiled from an oil bath in which the gears revolve. The neck bearing is self-aligning, non-adjustable, and trouble proof.

If you have been skimming by the old gravity method, or selling your milk, it is time to look for a bigger profit in your dairy.

When examining the Dairymaid separator notice these features:

- Chain drive, eliminating vibration.
- Power driven at the base.
- Six-piece frame.
- Efficient disk skimming device.
- Phosphor bronze bearings at all wearing points.
- Splash lubrication from oil bath.
- Trouble-proof bowl spindle neck bearings.

POLLOCK'S FOLLY

By MARY L. PARRISH

(Copyright, 1917, by W. G. Chapman.)

"That's Pollock's Folly!"

The bus driver never neglected to point to the house on the hill when giving information to new arrivals as to points of interest in the little town of Rackley. The house of graceful architecture, and spacious grounds had something of the forlorn look of a sightless person with its boarded-up windows, and the paintless walls, and locked gates completed the aspect of desolation.

"No, there ain't anybody living there, never has been," he went on. "It ain't even finished inside. Some folks say it's haunted, but I don't believe that, 'cause it's never been lived in. You see Stephen Pollock started building the house, when all of a sudden everything stopped. It couldn't have been for lack of money, 'cause that's his paper mill you saw just before you come in on the train, and it had been running steady for quite a spell before that. No one ever knew whether he was building the house to rent, or whether he meant to get married and live in it himself, for Pollock's one of them close-mouthed kind that you couldn't get a word out of with blinding powder if he didn't want to talk. There was plenty of offers to buy, but Pollock just said it wasn't for sale. It's in Boston now most of the time, and keeps to himself when he's here.

Marian Paused at the Door.

and it's more'n ten years since work stopped on that place.

"Yes, Pollock must be all of forty-five now. He wasn't so awful young when he started to build. He's fair and square to his men, and they all swear by him."

What was the mystery of the house on the hill?

One of the passengers to whom the bus driver told the story later on came into possession of the facts, and here they are: Marion Burrows, losing both parents when a child, had been taken in charge by an aunt in Boston, who was totally incapable of understanding the romantic, high-strung, and rather self-willed nature of the girl. Though only in moderate circumstances, she sent Marian away to a fashionable boarding school to get her off her hands. The girl came back, prettier, more attractive, and if anything, more unmanageable than ever. At nineteen the art craze took possession of her, she had visions of a career, and haunted studios. One day she met Pollock, whom a young novelist had brought to a reception. The vivid, responsive nature of the girl appealed to the quiet, serious man. He managed to be introduced at her home, and it was easy to construe the meaning of his frequent visits.

Marian grew to love the handsome, distinguished looking man, and finally said yes to his suit. Her aunt regarded the match as highly advantageous, and was correspondingly pleased.

One day he told Marian of the pretty home he was building for her in Rackley. A shadow passed over her face.

"Do you mean that we are to live there?" she asked.

"Why, of course; my business is there. Why, dear?"

"Oh, nothing," she said, changing the subject to hide her disappointment.

The more she thought of burying herself, as she called it, in the little town, the more distasteful did it become. Then it came upon her she did not love this man as she had thought she did, or she would follow him to the end of the earth.

At this crucial moment Marco Torini appeared on the scene. He had sung at a great charity concert, and was the lion of the hour. His beautiful tenor voice was filling the studio when Marian paused at the door. The glory of it took her by storm. She seemed in such a spell she did not even join in the applause of the other guests.

The young Italian's words and manner completed the fascination, and Marian went home in a kind of dream. Torini, charmed by her appreciation, ended in falling in love with her. Marian, carried off her feet by the ardent, romantic lovelorn of the Italian, after three weeks' acquaintance, eloped with Torini. They were married and sailed immediately for London. Strong, deep natures like Pollock's do not cry out with their hurt, but it staks farther, and stays longer for the repression. Beyond Marian's aunt and the few in Boston who had known of the engagement, no one ever heard anything from Stephen Pollock. Work was stopped on the pretty house, and the windows boarded up. Closed up, too, seemed the affectional side of his nature. He was not embittered, but he did not seek much the society of women. Still the men in his factory loved him.

Meanwhile what of the girl who had wrought this havoc in his life? In London Torini was quite as much the fashion as in America. The round of receptions, dinners and all kinds of gaiety which caught the young couple in its whirl seemed to the girl a dream of fairyland. They visited the great European capitals, and in Paris a daughter was born to them. Marian was ill for some months, and when she recovered sufficiently to care for the child, she gave it most of her time. Very soon she found that her husband, to whom adulation and demonstrative appreciation were the breath of his life, was seeking elsewhere the satisfaction of his temperamental demands. Foolish women flattered him, and his wife became a third-rate consideration. Her life with him grew to be intolerable, but they were now living in his own home in Italy, and she knew if she left him they would take the child from her.

At eight years of age the little girl died, and Marian then determined at all hazards to leave her husband. Marian had some valuable jewels, and with a little money she had saved, she left Italy, and sailed for America. Her aunt had never answered her letters, and she feared to face her. But she nerved herself up to make the attempt. She discovered her aunt had gone, and she was unable to trace her.

It was nearly two years since she had returned, and Marian began to awake to the fact that her small store of money was nearly exhausted. She tried to think what she could do to earn her living. Finally she advertised for a position as a companion. Thinking her foreign name might be a drawback, she called herself Mrs. Torrence. The letters she received were most discouraging, but at last there was one which seemed promising. She called at the appointed time on the lady, Mrs. Cromer, whom she found in a boarding house in a good part of the city. Mrs. Cromer, good natured and middle-aged, impressed her favorably.

"You see, it's like this," said the lady. "I'm going to live in a country town. I shall be all alone, and shall not know anyone in the place. I don't know of anybody to take with me. It's going to be lonesome and small pay, but you said it was mostly a home you wanted—"

"Yes," broke in Marian, "that's it. I think I should like to go."

"Pollock's Folly" had suddenly taken on a new lease of life. A force of workmen were going in and out, and the transformation was the talk of the town. The owner must be intending to bring a bride; but when the middle-aged Mrs. Cromer, and her companion moved in, Rackley was again disappointed.

"You see," said Mrs. Cromer to Marian, "I have just the dearest cousin in the world. When my fortune went to smash, and he found me in a boarding house, he said: 'Now there's that empty house of mine going to rack and ruin, and you without a home—it's selfish. If you'll live there, I'll fix it up.' Well, I jumped at it." And she told the girl how the woman he had loved had left him, and the house he had meant for her had been for years too sacred a place to be ever entered by anyone. She did not mention his name, but the story set Marian wondering.

"Isn't such a love a wonderful thing?" mused the lady. "And to think that girl wasn't worthy of it."

"No, she wasn't," answered Marian, "but she was young and foolish."

"Why, there he is now!" cried Mrs. Cromer, and the next moment Marian was face to face with Pollock. Both covered the shock of meeting as quietly as possible with commonplace greetings, but Mrs. Cromer saw that something unusual had happened, and soon made an excuse to leave them alone.

"I haven't any right," she said, "to even think you care to know, but—"

And she told him the whole miserable story of the last ten years.

"Oh, I came to know—to realize how foolish—how mad I had been," she added brokenly, "but it was too late."

"Yes—too late," he said. And with no more words he went.

It seemed strange to Marian that she should be living in the place which had been so lovingly consecrated to her, only as an interloper. She found herself watching and listening for the sound of his voice; but days and weeks went by and he did not return. One morning she saw in the newspaper which had just come in a notice of the death of the noted tenor, Marco Torini. There was to her no sorrow in the news, only a feeling of liberation. She went out in a secluded corner of the garden to be alone. Suddenly a voice broke the silence. Pollock's voice, speaking to a workman. She started to go back, when he strode up quickly, detaching her.

"Marian," he said, "I have been thinking it may not be too late." Looking into her eyes he knew that he was right.

THE KENTUCKIAN FOR 1917

The Kentuckian on Jan. 1, 1917, rounds out its 38th year. Under normal conditions the year 1916 could have been a year of unusual prosperity, but as the public is aware the exorbitant and unprecedented price charged for News Print Paper cut a deep hole in the profits of all newspapers and many unable to stand losses were put out of business. The Kentuckian enters the new year with print paper that cost $54 ton at this time last year now costing about $140 for the same amount of paper not as good. How long these conditions will continue cannot be foretold.

Many newspapers have advanced rates but in order that the circulation may not be lessened by a higher price the Kentuckian will still be sent for $2.00 a year, the old price. It will be necessary though to adhere rigidly to the cash system, since more than $1.00 must be paid in advance for the paper upon which we print 156 papers and the cost of printing leaves but little profit out of the second dollar. We are asking our old subscribers to stand by us in this crisis by renewing promptly. Advertisers will also be asked to pay a slightly higher rate for space, which is all a newspaper has to sell outside of its subscriptions. We trust the advertising public will see the reasonableness of this step.

All papers not paid for will be Stopped. Don't Let Yours Stop.

The Price Will be the same as heretofore,

Babylonian Empire.

The Babylonian empire ended with the conquest of the city by Cyrus, B. C. 538. The city itself was partly destroyed by Darius Hystaspis, B. C. 500, the walls and gates being thrown down. Later Xerxes plundered and demolished the temples. Thereafter the city was neglected and unpopulated, and in time became a vast overgrown ruin. Jerome, in the year 400 A. D., writes of it as having been made a hunting park for the Persian kings. The ruins of Babylon were used as building material in the construction of at least six other cities that have sprung up since its decay. So thorough has been the destruction of the once great city that not only are the traces of its principal buildings lost, but also the very site itself is in dispute. The reference in I Peter v. 13 to Babylon is explained by the fact that Babylon was the center from which the Asiatic Dispersion (addressed by Peter) was derived. Josephus, the Jewish historian, states in his "Antiquities" that Babylon contained some 8,000 Jews in the apostolic age, the Parthians then being master of that part of Mesopotamia. —Christian Herald.

Romance and Sentiment.

Some people think that the working girl becomes coarse and unwomanly and loses her natural charm and romantic sentiment. This is not true, for the business girl not only does not have all the romance and sentiment knocked out of her by learning to do things for herself, but she is better suited to select a husband or to mate with the man with whom she will be happy than those girls who learn the practical side of life only by what they hear of the outside world and through the gossip of the narrow circle in which they move.

Handy Artificial Limbs.

The "up-to-date" artificial hand is quite a miracle of mechanism. In fact, it can do almost anything that an arm of flesh and bone can do. With it a man can carry a stick, an umbrella or hold a book, etc. He can use knife and fork quite as dexterously, write with a legible hand, hold a cricket-bat or a billiard-cue, a hammer or an ax, and pick up a pin!

Those Bad Spells.

Labanon Jct., Ky.—Mrs. Minnie Kumb, of this place, says: "I believe I would have been dead by now, had it not been for Cardui. I haven't had one of those bad spells since I commenced to use this medicine." Cardui is a specific medicine for the ills from which women suffer. Made from harmless, vegetable ingredients Cardui is a safe, reliable remedy, and has been successfully used by weak and ailing women for more than fifty years. Thousands of women have been helped back to health and happiness by its use. Why not profit by their experience? A trial will convince you that Cardui is just what you need.—Advertisement.

Anecdote of the Autocrat.

A southern woman tells about dining in Boston once, when next to her sat a homely little old gentleman, who wanted to know how she passed the time in the country with her old father. "Well, we read," "What did you read?" "Chiefly 'The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.'" Don't you get tired of it?" "Oh, no. When we get to the end, we simply turn back to the beginning." The old gentleman chuckled, and made a remark implying that the "Autocrat" was no great thing among books, and the lady was rather surprised at his disparaging air. After dinner she demanded of her hostess the name of the unappreciative old gentleman, and was told that it was Doctor Holmes.

Reward for Pleasure.

Pleasure given for its own sake is often rewarded in financial terms. You begin to rise by your own effort. Not Quite Perfect.

In this neighborhood there is one little boy who seems so well brought up and altogether so desirable a child that for a time we felt sure the neighbor women wouldn't be able to think of anything to say, but now we understand from a reliable source that it's a perfect shame that his parents are jeopardizing his whole future by not having his teeth straightened.—Ohio State Journal.

Keeping Yourself Well

HOW YOU GET SICK

Sometimes you overload your stomach with rich foods. Your life may be an active one, and thus you may care for all you eat. But a few days of inactivity show your system does not call for so much. You awake in the morning tired. Your body feels heavy; you know you are not up to the mark. Your digestion has not cared for the overload. Part of it remains. It generates gas that inflames the delicate lining. They fail to pour out the digestive fluids and neglect to absorb the life-giving elements. You know something is wrong. Your body gets weak, and soon opportunity is offered for some severe illness.

Taken in time, the indigestion would not become serious. First remove the overload; then soothe the sore membranes; then build up the weakened body. It's simple to say, but not too easy to do. You need help. A tonic that will quicken digestion, help remove waste, soothe the soreness and arouse the system—that's just what you need.

Peruna has an enviable record in this respect. It has aided many thousands in the last century to overcome just these conditions, and thereby prevent serious sickness. The tablet form is convenient for regular administration.

Peruna Tablets are the ideal laxative and liver tonic. They have no unpleasant effects and form no habit. 10c and 25c. The Peruna Co. Columbus, O.

CHRISTIAN COUNTY JURY

Sheriff Ordered to Summon
a Venire of Sixty Jurors Yesterday.

FOR THE MARTIN TRIAL

Deputy Cravens at Once Got Busy and Summoned Them
For This Morning.

When court convened at Murray yesterday, to try the negro, Martin, Judge Bush ordered a venire of 60 men to be summoned from Christian county and orders were given at once for them to be brought to Murray this morning. Sheriff Smith and his deputies went to work at once summoning the men needed and ordering them to be ready to go at 5:40 this morning.

With soldiers on guard, there had been no evidence of attempted violence to Martin.

JUDGE C. H. BUSH
Makes Statement Relative to
The Troops at Murray.

In reply to a letter from O. J. Jennings, of Murray, asking him not to call for soldiers during the Martin trial, Judge Bush made the following statement of his position:

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb., 6, 1917.
Hon. O. J. Jennings,
Murray, Ky.

Dear Sir:—

On my return from the Cadiz court a day or two ago I received your letter in regard to the advisability of having state troops at the Martin trial.

Of course the Governor is in a position to be, and is, as conversant with the conditions at Murray as I am, and I received this morning a letter from Adjutant General Ellis, stating that he had been in conference with Governor Stanley, and that the result of the conference was, that soldiers should be ordered to Murray on the 19th to protect the colored prisoners.

You understand that an important part of the governor's duty is to see that the laws are executed, and where he has notice that the civil authorities have been powerless to prevent disorderly interference with the proceedings of the court, he will not hesitate to interpose with the militia. Therefore, if I were to ask him to trust alone to the civil authorities in this case, I feel sure that under the circumstances he would not do it, because he could not afford to do it; more than that, I do not feel inclined to ask it.

No one regrets more than I do that such a thing was ever considered necessary by any one, but after doing what I regarded a plain duty, and which in my judgment saved human life, I was subjected to indignities and humiliation, and, what was more, was unjustly criticised by certain newspapers, and certainly I do not want, and am sure you do not, a recurrence of anything of that kind. I know your sheriff, Mr. Patterson, is a brave and faithful official and will do the best he can to preserve order, but a contingency might arise that it would be impossible for him to do so, and therefore I deem it best for the policy of the state authorities to be carried out. I am inclined to believe that there will not be another exhibition of the mob spirit at Murray and I know the good people of your county sincerely wish that there may not be; but in view of what has happened recently, we have a right to believe that it is best to prepare for such an emergency.

Calloway is a good county, containing many splendid people whom I esteem most highly, and I desire to serve them and my district and state to the very best of my ability, and to conscientiously discharge my duty in official capacity, and to do this it is absolutely necessary for all court proceedings to be orderly and for the court to be protected in its rulings, which are always subject to legal exceptions, and revision, and correction, if wrong; and it should be the paramount object of any court, and it is mine, to give every person a fair and impartial trial, and this is impossible where parties and witnesses are liable to intimidation, and where the court is liable to be insulted should he make an unpopular ruling, however sound it may be, or however conscientiously he may act.

I know you will agree with me as to this proposition; and I know that all fair-minded people of your county will, I expect to be there, and to preside in the case, unless I am sworn off the bench by one side or the other, and, just as far as I possibly can, I intend for all my rulings to be according to law, and to do equal justice to both sides, just as I would any other case. Certainly no one can complain of this, and I feel that I should have the co-operation of all good citizens in preserving order and conducting the trial and all court proceedings in a manner that will be creditable alike to the court and to the people.

You say that Calloway county has had enough unpleasant notoriety. In this you are entirely correct and therefore it is my judgment that such apparently necessary precautionary measures should be adopted as will prevent a recurrence of such conditions as existed on the 10th of last month.

So far as I am personally concerned, I cherish no unkind feeling for anyone in Calloway county, and I desire to do the very best I can as an official to uphold the law, and to promote the peace, welfare and happiness of her people, and to this end I expect to do my duty at all hazards. I have done it thus far, false and vicious newspaper attacks to the contrary notwithstanding. You know that and have declared it in no uncertain manner, and I shall ever be grateful
